Brief Description with Outcomes:

The students holding a banner described the importance of the environment.
The students have learnt the value of maintaining a free pollution zone to be away from all complications. This taught a lesson to understand and preserve natural acceptance of changes in nature.
The NCC unit organized a rally on June 5, 2018, to celebrate Environmental Day, which had a significant impact on the participating students.
Through their involvement in the rally, the students gained a deeper understanding of the value of maintaining a pollution-free environment. They learned that reducing pollution is essential to avoid various health and ecological complications. This experience also imparted a valuable lesson on the importance of respecting and preserving the natural balance and changes in nature. Overall, the event fostered a greater sense of environmental responsibility and awareness among the students, encouraging them to adopt sustainable practices in their daily lives.
